FEE SCHEDULE

Effective July 2, 2007

Your FCC issued Call Sign is your official license to operate a land mobile radio system. An FCC license is a dynamic instrument that includes periodic time sensitive evolution in order to maintain its good standing and your authority to continue operations on your radio system. AFC's License Management process provides peace of mind by:

- Reviewing your call sign to ensure its current good standing basis, and
- Ensure future FCC changes and time sensitive requirements are adhered to and supported.

The fees charged by the APCO Licensing Service for license management do not include the coordination fees charged by frequency coordinators or FCC filing fees.

The Call Sign Review and Annual License Management may discover problems with the Call Sign license. Modifications to the Call Sign may require license submission to the FCC to correct deficiencies or respond to additional services. Any required modifications will require additional services and fees based on APCO's current published fee schedules. A 10% discount will apply to the AFC Licensing Service Fee Schedule and/or the AFC Engineering Fee Schedule for requested services with a signed Agreement for License Management with the APCO Licensing Services. If you are anticipating a large project, or a project requiring a competitive bid, be sure and contact AFC. We specialize in high performance processing for large projects and will provide responsive bids/quotes with significant discounts to the above published fees.

FEES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE
